Francisco Aboitiz

Estudió Licenciatura en Biología (1975-1983), luego trabajó como asistente de investigación en Harvard Medical School (1983-1985), realizó un Ph.D. en Neurociencia (1985-1991) y un postdoctorado (1991-1992) en la Universidad de California, Los Angeles. Entre 1992 hasta 2002, fue profesor en la Facultad de Medicina de la Universidad de Chile, y desde 2002 a la fecha es profesor del Departamento de Psiquiatría de la Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile.

Es autor de unas 50 publicaciones en neurociencia y neuroanatomía comparada, y actualmente tiene dos líneas de investigación: (1) neuroanatomía comparada y desarrollo de la corteza cerebral, y (2) neurociencia cognitiva, especialmente aspectos relacionados a mecanismos neurobiológicos involucrados en los procesos atencionales.
